Pelco IP Cameras Now Supported by OnSSI Intelligent IP Video Solutions

Clovis, CA (October 4, 2007) – Pelco is pleased to announce a new collaboration with On-Net Surveillance Systems, Inc. (OnSSI), a software development firm and market leader in non-proprietary, open architecture IP-based video surveillance technology solutions.

The partnering of these two industry leaders has resulted in the development of a software management platform that allows Pelco Camclosure IP and IP3701 cameras to work with OnSSI recording software. It allows users to seamlessly integrate current or new OnSSI recording or viewing software to Pelco Camclosure IP and IP3701 cameras.

“We are actively supporting our open architecture message around our IP cameras by continuing to support third-party software integration,” says Sara Scroggins, Pelco Product Marketing Manager. “We are committed to working with OnSSI and other software management developers with our IP Camera Application Program Interface.”

“Our collaboration with Pelco fits with OnSSI’s open architecture approach to IP-based video surveillance,” says Mulli Diamant, Vice President of Sales, OnSSI. “By working with top hardware manufacturers such as Pelco, we are able to offer the most flexible surveillance solutions for our customers including scalability, functionality and lower cost of ownership.”
